

STANDARD OIL COMPANY PLAN

New Jersey Corporation Cuts Off Subsidiaries.

COMPLIES WITH COURT DECREE

Stocks in Minor Companies No Longer to be Held by Major Corporation but Apportioned Among Stockholders.

New York, Aug. 1.—Stockholders in the Standard Oil company of New Jersey will receive today from the secretary of the corporation a letter which indicates the plan by which the company will conform itself to the decree of the supreme court.

They are informed that by Dec. 1 next they will have certificates of stocks in thirty-three corporations, which at the time of the decision were owned by the Standard Oil company. This does not mean, so M. F. Elliott, chief counsel for the Standard Oil company, pointed out, that the Standard Oil company will go out of business on Dec. 1. It will continue as a manufacturer of petroleum products and it will continue to run the biggest oil refineries in the world.

Besides the stock which the Standard of New Jersey owns in the thirty-three corporations of which it is ordered to rid itself it held shares in many other corporations. What will become of this stock Mr. Elliott did not wish to say. There appears to be nothing in the supreme court decree or in that of the lower court, however, which prevents the Standard of New Jersey from maintaining ownership, so said Mr. Elliott.

The scheme by which the Standard will dissolve connection with the thirty-three companies which have been regarded as subsidiaries has been under consideration by the directors for many months. It was said at 26 Broadway that to apportion stock among the stockholders in the major corporation was the only way of meeting the letter of the supreme court's decree.

The scheme, outlined in Secretary Folger's letter, so it was pointed out, is not to be taken as a reorganization of the Standard of New Jersey. It is a dissolution. The effect of the plan is to disassociate the companies formerly under its control, and to cause the Standard of New Jersey to continue as a manufacturing concern.

VANDALS DEFACE BUILDING

Contractor Who Testified in McNamara Case Was Doing Work.

Indianapolis, Aug. 1.—Damage aggregating $2,000 was done to a business block by vandals here and the police are investigating on the theory that it was the work of sympathizers with organized labor. Albert Von Spreckels, a contractor, was remodeling the block. One year ago four houses which he was building were dynamited at the same hour and soon after he made peace with organized labor. He was before the grand jury recently in the McNamara investigation and the theory is that labor sympathizers wished to revenge themselves for his supposed testimony.

Much of the plumbing in the block was torn out and rendered worthless, the walls were daubed with paint and the inside finish of the rooms was scarred and chipped so badly that it will have to be replaced.

TELLS MOTHER HE DID IT

New York Bellboy Confesses Murder of Aged Man.

New York, Aug. 1.—Paul Giedel, the bellboy, weeping on the shoulder of his widowed mother, confessed to her that he had killed William Henry Jackson, the aged guest in the Hotel Iroquois last week. The intensely dramatic scene was enacted in the counsel room of the Tombs prison.

It followed the postponement of the boy's arraignment to allow him to consult with counsel and the announcement that his counsel would apply for a lunacy commission to test the present mental condition of his client.

YPSI WILL BE A POSTAL SAVINGS BANK STATION

Ypsilanti is to have a postal savings depository. This information has arrived from Washington and has created much interest locally. The operations of the depository will begin August 25. The force at the post-office will not be increased, although deposits may be received at any time at the money-order window. Any patrons of the Ypsilanti postoffice may make deposits. As little as ten cents will be received. No person may deposit more than $500, together with accrued interest, to his credit. The rate of interest will be two per cent. The savings deposits are not transferable nor negotiable.

Mr. and Mrs. Schleh were married July 16, 1895, and they have four children. The complainant claims her husband gets drunk and has a violent temper and that his habits have become so bad that she had to leave and go to her mother.

PLAN LORIMER RECESS SOON

Committee Will Take Vacation of Month or Two.

MANY WITNESSES TO BE HEARD

In No Other Investigation Is It Probable That the Two Sides Were So Confident That They Had Won the Case.

Washington, Aug. 1.—Out of the maze of conflicting testimony, apparent perjury and trivial details, the Lorimer investigating committee is endeavoring to sift out the facts. A date for taking a long recess has been tentatively fixed. During that period the two attorneys for the committee will go through the record of what has been heard and fix on a program for the remainder of the inquiry. The committee hopes to conclude its session in Washington in ten days. When it resumes, probably after a month or two of vacation, the hearings will be in Chicago.

In no other investigation is it probable that two sides ever were so confident. Senator Lorimer's adherents declare that they have proved their contention that the charges are the last desperate effort in a train of deep-laid conspiracies which have beset his path since he entered politics. Similar motives, they contend, actuated those who testified against his friend, Edward Hines.

On the other hand, those in touch with affairs in the senate are convinced that the tide has set too strongly against Senator Lorimer to be stopped. Yet to come are the witnesses who confessed their criminality in accepting money. Charles A. White, the former representative whose confession of bribe taking and general corruption in the Forty-third general assembly of Illinois uncovered the scandal, is to be the principal witness before the committee gets away from Washington.

H. J. C. Beckemeyer, Robert E. Wilson and Lee O'Neill Browne will also be given an opportunity to tell their stories before the committee leaves Washington. With these witnesses heard, the committee will have disposed of all of those who have been prominently named in the scandal. After them will come the gleanings. The committee proposes to thrash out everything and before the harvest of evidence is completed will call in legislators, reporters and politicians who have so far been credited with only passing knowledge of the deeds in that deadlocked legislature.

Every one of the Democratic minority who refused to vote for Lorimer will be called and many other members. Among the politicians Colonel Ira C. Cooley of Aurora, congressman from former Senator Hopkins' district, is expected to tell what he knows of any effort to buy for $30,000 the Democrats who subsequently voted for Senator Lorimer at a reported price of $100,000.

EMILIE GRIGSBY

Protege of Charles T. Yerkes, Who Has Excited Wrath of Royalty

FROWNED ON BY ROYALTY

English Monarchs Vexed by Stories of the Notorious Emilie Grigsby.

London, Aug. 1.—The Emilie Grigsby affair will be thoroughly ventilated. Queen Mary is vexed because it has been reported that the former notorious protegee of the late Charles T. Yerkes, for whom he deserted his Chicago wife, is the intimate friend and associate of Princess Mary, who is only fifteen years old, and the Prince of Wales, who is only seventeen.

King George is vexed because Emilie Grigsby intrigued so successfully that she received an official invitation and was conspicuous at coronation ceremonies in Westminster Abbey June 22, a function which it was desired to keep free from the presence of undesirables.

FIRE RAGES IN HAMILTON ASYLUM, 8 MANIACS DEAD

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 1.—At least eight and perhaps ten lives were lost in a fire which partly destroyed one of the main buildings of the insane asylum on the side of the mountain, southwest of the city, early today. There were 800 patients in the building when the fire was discovered and it was only a well-trained fire fighting corps and splendid coolness and bravery among the nurses and attendants under Dr. English that averted a frightful loss of life.

The known dead are Charles Billiard, Dunnville; Alfred Nay, St. Catharines; John Heffernan, Arthur; Thos. Evans, Elora; Edward Sodke, Welland; John T. Holdaway, Lindenwood; George W. Storey, Hickey; Albert Bowler, Dundalk.

The blazing roof of the asylum, away up on the mountain, attracted the attention of the entire city. The cry "The asylum is on fire," rang through the streets and hundreds flocked up the hill.

It was a weird sight that presented itself and the screams of the 1,300 inmates of the four buildings drowned every other sound.

The firemen, fighting both flames and the maniacs, were in constant peril, and frequently were seen perched on window sills through which the smoke was pouring, trying to drag forth a struggling man.

Tierman Tom Fitzgerald, of the electric truck, is given credit for the rescue of five men. His sixth broke from his grasp at a window and fled back into the flames, where he perished.

Provincial Detective Rogers and his staff arrived from Toronto this morning, having been detailed by the provincial secretary's department to make a searching investigation. The fire is believed to have been caused by a short circuit on an electric wire in the store room on the top floor.

Flames Among Violent Insane. There are four buildings in the group within the asylum grounds. The main buildings, where the fire occurred, is a four-story brick structure with basement, 200 feet in length and about 70 feet wide, with wings at either end. The women patients, numbering 350, occupied quarters in the west wing. The remainder of the

JUMPS FROM ONE TRAIN INTO PATH OF ANOTHER, IS INSTANTLY KILLED

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 1.—Charles Whittaker aged twenty-one years, of Battle Creek, was instantly killed here when he jumped from a west-bound freight train right in front of the engine of an east-bound passenger train. Whittaker, with two companions, had come to Kalamazoo from Battle Creek on the freight train. The freight did not stop here, as they had expected it would. As it was climbing the asylum grade they started to jump off. Whittaker made the first leap. He did not notice a train coming on the other track and was caught by the east-bound train as he was in the air, his body being terribly cut and bruised. His companions, after witnessing the accident, jumped off the train and walked back to where the body of Whittaker lay.

FORMER YPSI TEACHER DEAD

MISS FANNIE GRAY SUCCEUMS TO ATTACK OF THROAT PARALYSIS.

The many Ypsilanti people who remember Miss Fannie Gray, who taught in the Ypsilanti high school from the year 1878 or 1879 to 1892, learned with regret this morning that she had passed away Sunday morning at her apartments, Biddle Avenue and Vine street, Wyandotte, after an illness of several months from paralysis of the throat. Miss Gray came of an old Grosse Isle family, her parents being Major Horace Gray and Mary Frances Bury, who was the last survivor of the Bury family. Miss Gray was born in Detroit, but spent most of her life at Gray Gables, Grosse Isle, a summer home noted for hospitality.

Miss Gray leaves a sister, Mariette Gray, who is the only survivor of the large family. Funeral services will be held at St. Stephen's Episcopal church, Chestnut street, Wyandotte, at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning and interment will take place at Elmwood cemetery.

SECOND WRECK VICTIM REPORTED DEAD; MOTORMAN MAY BE EXONERATED BY JURY

Fatal Mistake is Termed a "Mechanical Blunder," Commissioner Dickinson Promises a Thorough Investigation to Fix Responsibility

A second victim of the Dearborn wreck, the one-year-old daughter of Albert Gaul of Romulus, is reported to have died Monday night.

There is slight prospect of anyone being punished for the wreck which has so far resulted in two deaths and in the injuring of sixty persons. Assistant Prosecutor Kilpatrick is quoted as having said, "I cannot state positively without having heard all the evidence, but I think it unlikely that the coroner's jury could find Motorman Woodin guilty of criminal negligence, provided the facts are as stated in the papers."

"I do not think either Motorman Woodin or his conductor, Dresselhouse, could be found guilty of manslaughter or any criminal offence," said

Publicity Agent Van Zandt of the D. U. R.

It is held that a "mechanical blunder" is responsible for the accident of Sunday.

The above is stated in the face of the admission of Motorman Forest Woodin of the Detroit bound car that according to his own statement, he forgot to wait for the local following the 4:10 p. m. limiteds from Detroit. He also declared that his conductor, Fred Dresselhouse, was standing on the front steps of the car while it occupied the Dearborn sub-station switch and cried to him: "Go ahead."

"Instinctively," the motorman who caused the crash says, he threw on the power and pulled out.

"We have tried several times to get the D. U. R. which controls the line to straighten several of its bad curves, but they declare they are held up by the people who own the land it would be necessary for them to acquire to do so," stated Commissioner Dickinson Monday during his inspection.

He continued, "We shall leave nothing undone to fix the responsibility of the wreck and if we find it rests upon the dispatching system employed by the company, as many seem to think it does, we shall say so, without hesitation. It is a curious coincidence that one of our inspectors was to have gone over the line Monday in a tour of inspection for faulty points."

The D. U. R. officials advance the following as their reason for the covering of their wrecked cars by great canvas shrouds: "It is simply because the conveying of these smashed up cars through the streets creates a state of horror in the brains of the timid ones."

The wife of Louis Hamilton, the unfortunate motorman of the interurban, was not informed of her husband's death until Monday morning when a policeman who heard of her inquiries, ascertained for certain the fate of the husband and broke the news to her. She had waited all Sunday night for her husband's return. Mr. Hamilton will be buried at his home in Marengo, Calhoun county. The employees of the division are planning to take up a collection for her benefit.

GRAND COUNCIL OF SCOUTS WILL HAVE A SESSION

A Grand Scout Council about the Camp-fire is called for tomorrow (Wednesday) evening at 7:00. All Scouts, Scout Masters and Officers are urged to be present in order to take over matters of vital importance to the Ypsilanti organization. In case the weather proves unsuitable the meeting will be held in Room A of the Science building, otherwise back on the Normal grounds, assembling first in front of the Science building. C. P. Steimle, Registrar of the Normal College, will teach the game of Finnish Base Ball to all Scouts who are interested if they will report at 6:30 on the athletic grounds adjacent to the Training school. This is a highly exciting variety of ball especially adapted to Scout camps where regular ball grounds can not be laid out. The proper swimming stroke for beginners will also be shown and numerous suggestions made looking toward the safety and pleasure of the Scouts for the remainder of the season. The patrol leaders are urged to get the word to all of their own members.

The writer takes this opportunity, upon behalf of the Boy Scouts, to thank the dozens of citizens for the very substantial assistance rendered during their encampment. Without such help the camp could not have been as successful as it was and this help was greatly appreciated by the Scouts and officers in charge. We sincerely hope that the Scouts during the coming weeks and months will show that they are worthy of such favors from the residents of our beautiful city.

W. H. SHERZER, President Scout Council.

"WHAT IS SOCIALISM?"

We have been observing the growth of the industrial status of man through Communism, where prisoners were not profitable and hence were killed, through a condition where society became more complex, where more things were produced than were needed by the individual and hence prisoners became valuable to make more things to be exchanged, which was claimed to be the situation that accounts for the beginning of Chattel slavery. This ripened naturally into Oligarchy. Then more slaves were born and produced and acquired than the owner could support and Feudalism came along, which converted slaves into serfdom the serf going with the land from one proprietor to another.

And this brings us to the fifth stage in the evolution of industrial society, according to the Socialistic view, and that is Capitalism, which they consider under two heads. Socialists claim "that all this while however, there was slowly growing up in the world another class of workers. On the big Feudal estates, the major portion of the necessary labor was done by the serfs, but as civilization grew, more complex along the lines that we have indicated, and as the needs and desires of man increased, there arose the necessity of toll more delicate and specialized than could be accomplished by the villain, who sowed and reaped, or his wife and daughter, who spun and carded. This toll was the handicrafts, and it found its recruits among the freedmen, the descendants of those slaves who were given liberty under the previous dispensation, or the soldiers, who were forced into peaceful pursuits during the increasingly long intervals between war and war.

Each handicraftsman stuck to his own trade, in the beginning and turned out a finished product, a complete article of exchange. But soon the manufactured articles grew in complexity and delicacy with the growing demands of civilization, and it was soon necessary for different men to specialize upon different portions of the same article. Manufacture was socialized.

"Meanwhile, though the serf, as we have seen, had the protection of his baron, the handicraftsman, being a freedman, was undefended. He therefore undertook to defend himself by organization. They organized themselves into guilds, which was the nucleus of the modern trade-union.

"Y. I. A." LOCATED.

The numerous enquiries of citizens as to what had become of the Ypsilanti Industrial Association prompted the facetious enquiry of a few days ago. It seems that this ten thousand dollar company has had some commercial experience as many commercial companies have.—Subscriptions came easier than cash. But this organization didn't expect the cash to be paid much faster than it was needed. The payments were provided for in instalments. Only one instalment has been asked for, because not yet needed. Only part of the subscribers responded to the first call. It is quite possible that some of these delinquents are asking, "What has become of the Y. I. A.?" It is quite probable that the officers of the Y. I. A. are doing as much as these delinquents.

But, while waiting for "the third and last call," we believe the Y. I. A. will do well to have monthly meetings, or oftener if necessary. We often hear it said, "You can count me in when you are ready to do something." The need seems to be to sit down together and talk matters over. Give the citizens frequent opportunity to come in, offer suggestions and keep in touch with the situation. We believe in no other way can public interest be created and sustained.

There are several matters which citizens are persistently urging our interest in. Why not get together and talk them over? By doing so, if they are shown to be impractical, this will wipe the slate as to these and make room for something else. It is practical, the appointment of a suitable committee will help produce results.

Any policy of promotion which waits for something to turn up has failed before it starts—simply because it never starts. Unless we systematically get busy in turning something up—in going after it what we want and keeping after it—it will go to those who do pursue such a policy. The promotion business is successfully conducted by municipalities the same as by individuals.

The big "ad" convention which commences in Boston today, is attracting representatives from wide-awake towns clear across the continent. Iowa towns sent representatives in autos through Ypsilanti to Boston to get the best up-to-the-minute ideas on municipal and industrial advertising. We believe we could have something of interest for every meeting if we go after it and have the meetings. Let's unite on something and turn something up. And don't let's wait till September. We have the organization. We have the officers. We have the money. Why not turn on the power?

A Mummy's Toy.

There is a doll in the British Museum that is more than 3,000 years old. When some archaeologists were exploring an ancient Egyptian royal tomb they came upon a sarcophagus containing the mummy of a little princess 7 years old. She was dressed and interred in a manner befitting her rank, and in her arms was found a little wooden doll. The inscription gave the name, rank and age of the little girl and the date of her death, but it said nothing about the quaint little wooden Egyptian doll. This, however, told its own story. It was so tightly clasped in the arms of the mummy that it was evident that the child had died with her beloved doll in her arms. The doll occupies a place in a glass case in the museum, and there a great many English children go to gaze upon it.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

By W. A. MACY.

AN UNDIGNIFIED CHIEF JUSTICE.

The Geneva tribunal of Arbitration, which settled the controversy between the United States and England concerning the Alabama claims, awarded damages to the former in the sum of $15,500,000. But the verdict was not unanimous. One of the five arbitrators, Sir Alexander Cockburn of England, submitted a dissenting opinion. For a dozen years Sir Alexander had been Lord Chief Justice of England, and one would expect him to be dignified in bearing and judicial in temperament. But all through the trial he acted more like a petty lawyer in a justice court than an arbitrator in a great international dispute. He differed from his colleagues on almost every point, great and little, and made himself generally disagreeable. In speaking of the closing session of the tribunal Caleb Cushing, one of the attorneys for the United States, said: "The instant the president finished reading the award, and before the sound of his last words had died on the ear, Sir Alexander Cockburn snatched up his hat and, without participating in the leave-takings around him, without a word or sign of courteous recognition for any of his colleagues, rushed to the door and disappeared, in the manner of a criminal escaping from the dock, rather than of a judge separating, and that forever, from his colleagues on the bench."

According to custom in China the members of the imperial family are above the law. Prince Can-Chi has been doing just as he likes recently, fortified with this immunity. There is not a hygienic law that this interesting person has not broken, and his great recreation seems to have been to defy the police. At length to the endurance of the police there came a limit, and the matter was brought under the notice of the regent, who has not only abolished the "convention," but the prince's recreations also, and given instructions that in future he must act as an ordinary citizen, or stand the consequences.

CUT OUT FOR A FINANCIER

Youth Beginning Well and Father Seemed Abundantly Justified in His Reasoning.

The old man was perched upon a high stool, figuring up the day's sales of dry goods, groceries and hardware, when his son came in with a rush. "Say, Pop," exclaimed the young man, "if I can buy a three-hundred dollar horse for one-fifty will you take a chattel mortgage on him and help me out with the cash?"

"What kind of a horse, my son?" inquired the father cautiously.

"Bay, 4 years old, sixteen hands high, weighs 1,000 pounds, and sound in wind, limb and bottom."

"That sounds good to me, my son, and I want to do all I can to help you along in the world," and he reached down into the safe for his roll. "How much do you want?"

"A hundred and forty-nine, fifty," the old man gasped and caught hold of the desk.

"What?" he exclaimed.

"A hundred and forty-nine, fifty. I've got half a dollar.

Slowly the old man shoved the roll back into the safe.

"My son," he said softly, "you are wasting time trading horses. What you ought to do is to go into the loan and trust business."—Lippincott's.

A Wide-Awake Constable.

"Ye say ye ain't been speedin', eh?" said Silas as he stopped the car.

"Nary a speed," said the chauffeur, trying to be amiable.

"When did ye leave Quinceville?" demanded Silas, suspiciously.

"Five o'clock this morning," said the chauffeur, with a wink at his companion.

"Five this mornin', eh?" said the constable, catching the wink. "Taken ye six hours to come four miles. Waal, I guess I'll run ye in, anyhow, only I'll change the complaint from overspeedin' to obstructin' the highway."—Harper's Weekly.

HIDDEN DANGERS.

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That No Ypsilanti Citizen Can Afford To Ignore.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when the kidneys are sick. Well kidneys excrete a clear, amber fluid. Sick kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy, or a thick, red, ill-smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.

DANGER SIGNAL NO. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy, or sharp and acute, tell you of sick kidneys and warn you of the approach of dropsy, gravel and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills help sick kidneys. Here's Ypsilanti proof:

W. H. Hall, 513 N. Adams St., Ypsilanti, Mich., says: "Short use of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Weinmann-Matthews Co.'s Drug Store, convinced me that they are an excellent kidney remedy. They entirely relieved me of pain in the small of my back and difficulty with the kidney secretions. I cheerfully recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

Milady's Mirror

Buttermilk Beauties.

In warm weather, when cooling foods that are nutritive and refreshing drinks that are cooling are the order of the day, buttermilk is absolutely indispensable once its true merit is discovered.

A taste for buttermilk, like olives, may be cultivated. Care should be taken to procure fresh buttermilk, as the other kind is far from healthful. It may be detected by a biting acid taste, while the fresh milk is merely agreeably tart.

As a cosmetic buttermilk is most effective as a substitute for water. In this case it is applied freely with a soft cloth and rubbed well into the face, neck and chest. Soap should not be used, and the parts covered should be thoroughly saturated with the milk. After being allowed to dry slightly the application is washed off gently with warm water in which a teaspoonful of borax has been dissolved. Fresh buttermilk is then applied gently with the fingers and allowed to dry. After being sunburned or freckled buttermilk should be applied as soon as possible and allowed to remain on the skin. Water should not be applied while the skin stings or smart.

A disagreeable feature of the milk as a cosmetic is its odor. For this reason it is sometimes best to apply it at night and to use reliable skin food or powder during the day. Because of its efficiency as a bleach and as a food both for the body and the skin and because of its commendable cheapness, which is a point worth considering, it occupies an important position in the search for health and beauty.

Oily Skins.

A person with an oily skin should be careful of her diet. She should avoid all rich and greasy foods. Unless this is done outward treatment will be of little use. Wipe the face occasionally with diluted alcohol (25 per cent strength). A few drops of ammonia or a pinch of borax in the water in which the face is washed is also helpful. This treatment will have an effect on the pores. It is quite important that the skin be rinsed in cold water after hot water has been used. There is nothing better than soap and water for cleansing the skin. Every night before retiring apply towels wrung from hot water and then use a good flesh brush and pure soap. Do not forget to rinse the skin thoroughly.

Use of Powder.

It is sometimes necessary to powder the face, but powder should be applied lightly and artistically in order to impart to the skin the velvety softness of the peach.

A face powdered like a clown's is ridiculous and as unbecoming as vulgar. Powder on the face should be imperceptible and if used with discretion is not to be condemned.

Take up but a small quantity of powder on the puff and pass lightly over the face. Care should be taken not to powder the eyebrows, and the lips must be carefully wiped to remove any powder which may have fallen. The whole face except the eyes, the eyebrows and lips should receive a touch of the powder.

Care of the Feet.

To make the feet less sensitive wash them every night in warm water in which a piece of common washing soda has been dissolved, and before putting on your boots in the morning dust the feet with the following powder, which is healing: Twenty grams talcum powder, twenty grams lycopodium powder, five grams powdered tannin, five grams boric acid and ten drops essence of patchouli. If you have a bunion the joint must be relieved from all pressure. It is possible wear a loose slipper until inflammation has subsided. Paint the bunion every day with the following lotion: Two drams iodine, two drams glycerin and two drams carbolic acid. Apply with a camel's hair pencil.

Complexion Tonic.

Sulphur and molasses form an old fashioned tonic which has a most beneficial effect upon the complexion. To make it put two tablespoonfuls of the powdered sulphur in a saucer and six teaspoonfuls of molasses. Blend thoroughly and take a half hour before breakfast and on retiring. A teaspoonful is the usual amount for a dose. Take this dose for three days and then after a corresponding interval resume.

Cleansing the Hair.

Never retire without brushing your hair. The hair is a dust trap, and no dainty woman would retire without removing the day's accumulation of dust. The brush tells its own story of the day's catch of dust if you take the trouble to examine it. After brushing the hair loosen the skin from the scalp by slow, firm massage.

The Instep.

The height of the instep is determined by the bony structure of the foot. There is nothing to be done to gain a high one. If you think that your instep has fallen consult a specialist and have him give you a support.

CABBAGE LEAVES IN HAT.

Enables Umpire Mal Eason to Keep Cool.

Umpire Mal Eason is strong for the old fashioned stunt of keeping his head cool with a bunch of cabbage leaves. Before going on the field recently he stuck a bunch of cabbage leaves under his cap. After the game he said it was the only sure way to keep from getting overheated.

According to Eason, cabbage leaves will retain moisture better than a damp rag or sponge and keep the head cool. "Some years ago while I was pitching for the Brooklyn club I twirled a game in St. Louis on the hottest day I ever experienced in my life," said Eason. "I kept my head cool that day by sticking a bunch of cabbage leaves under my cap. Several of our men were overheated that day. I pitched the entire game and saw the other fellows drop by the wayside. Pitching nine innings of ball with the temperature hovering around 94 is anything but a picnic. I can't imagine anything harder unless it is umpiring the game."

FEAR OF COBB HELPS TEAM.

Opponents Become Nervous When He Gets Into Action.

Take Ty Cobb from the Detroit team and it would have a hard time finishing in the first division, and this is not reflecting in the least on the other members of that very good ball team. But where in the history of baseball has there ever been a ball player to compare with Cobb? There have been others to show flashes, others who were brilliant in spots, but Cobb is the only one who is sensational every day, and does more to win ball games for his team than any three other individuals on it. You may despise him because he is always making the other fellows look foolish; you may charge him with being inflated over his success or what not, but you can't get round the fact that his equal on the ball field has never been seen.

There have been other ball players, there are some today, but compare them, day in and day out, with Cobb, and they are not in the same class. What is most remarkable about the lad from Georgia is his untiring aggressiveness. There is never an idle moment in a ball game for Cobb. He does not stop to rest on his laurels nor slow down because a game is won or lost, but he is always in the game from head to foot.

Cobb is supposed to be playing in the highest class of baseball, and yet it is but a dream that he does not show his superiority over his opponents. And they realize his prowess, too, for no sooner is he on the bases than the opposition is on a tizzy. He no sooner faces a pitcher than that worthy concludes that he is facing a master at the art. Cobb helps his ball team as much by the fear that he creates among the opposing team as he does by his actual sensational performance.

WHY BRESNAHAN IS SUCCESSFUL

Manager of St. Louis Cardinals Gets Everything Out of Players.

HIS METHODS DESCRIBED.

Pitchers Obey Orders and Work in Rotation—Believes in Putting Ball Over Plate and Inspires Men With Confidence—His Catching a Factor.

Critics who have studied the St. Louis Cardinals this year say the remarkable success of the team is due to heavy, consistent batting, fast base running and steady fielding—a combination that has more than offset an ordinary quality of pitching. But practical baseball men—players on other National league teams who can speak from actual experience—say that Bresnahan's catching, which means the expert handling of young pitchers, the direction of defensive tactics and the breaking up of the opponents' hit and run game, has worked wonders. "Bresnahan is using a headful of gray matter," said a prominent ball player the other day. "He learned inside baseball when he caught for the Giants under McGraw's management and he has gradually drummed the principles of that style of play into his pliable team. In the first place Roger has impressed upon his pitchers the fact that they must follow his instructions to the letter and that they must work in regular rotation. He has made them practice control until at least four of them, Sallee, Harmon, Golden and Steele, have it down fine. Bresnahan calls for more balls over the plate than any other catcher. He believes in putting a batsman in the hole as quickly as possible, for he says that if the first ball is a strike the confidence of the hitter is decreased as much as the pitcher's confidence is strengthened. Confidence is a watchword with the Cardinals' manager, and he plays that game to the limit.

"By making his pitchers work the corners and the middle of the plate, at the same time wasting a ball now and then at his direction, Bresnahan has succeeded in developing box work that is a big factor in the team's victories. As a student of batsmen's weak points he has no superior, and by enabling his pitchers to work them he is getting results. Roger also keeps an eye peeled for opposing base runners and is pegging them out with some great throwing. He has taught his men how to play the hit and run game, not only from first to second base, but also from second home, and that is why many games have been won.

"The Cardinals have become infected with Bresnahan's confidence and energy, and they actually believe they can win the pennant. Bres has pointed out to them that the world's series means nearly $2,000 a piece, and the men are ready to fight to a finish. Every man on the St. Louis team regards Roger as a fair, square leader, who asks them nothing that he cannot do himself. The discipline is perfect, and the whole team is harmonious."

Nunamaker Showing Up Well. Nunamaker, the catcher who is showing up so well with the Red Sox, was once the property of the Cubs, but was turned back by them. The Boston Americans got him by draft.

WHY BROOKLYN TEAM LOSES

Many Reasons Given For Club's Poor Showing This Season.

Lack of team play at the bat and on the bases, a general absence of headwork and pitching of an in and out quality are reasons why the Brooklyn team are doomed to a place near the cellar. Brooklyn's chances for a consistent winner died when Edward Hanlon severed his relations with the club at Washington park. Will John Gausel succeed Bill Dahlen as the club's manager next year?

Ramsdell to Defend Sprinting Titles. "Texas" Ramsdell, the University of Pennsylvania sprinting star, will very likely defend his 100 and 220 yard dash titles at this year's English championships.

Lord May Succeed Duffy.

Harry Lord is named as the possible successor of Hugh Duffy as manager of the Chicago White Sox. Lord is captain of the team and is playing a great game at third base, but, according to Boston critics, he was traded by the Red Sox because of his tendency to cause dissension. Duffy has built up Comiskey's team, and fair minded critics in Chicago say he is entitled to another year's engagement.

Jimmy Sheekard Best Waiter. Sheekard, Cub outfielder, is probably the best waiter in the National league. Pitchers will admit this. The fact that he has been given thirty-seven bases on balls in forty-five games alone bears out the statement.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

WILD WEST MANAGERS CLAIM COMING SHOW CARRIES GRAND FEATURES

The management of the Young Buffalo Wild West show, which will exhibit in this city Thursday afternoon and night, Aug. 10, claims to have a surprise in store for the amusement lovers of this city. They claim upwards of 700 cowboys, cowgirls, Indian chiefs and warriors from many of the great tribes of American Indians, Russian Cossacks, Mexican lariat throwers and bronco busters, N. W. Canadian mounted police, U. S. cavalrymen and representative rough riders from all quarters of the globe. Numerically, the Young Buffalo Wild West show is claimed to be first, but the management does not stop with numbers, they claim to have more men and women on their pay rolls who have astonished the world with deeds of skill, recklessness, and daring than any other wild west exhibition. Some of them are Annie Oakley, the world's greatest woman rifle shot; Ambrose Means, the reckless American cowpuncher; Capt. Bogardus, the undefeated champion marksman of the world; Col. Stewart and Curtis Liston, a trio of marksmen the like of which is seldom seen. Buffalo Vernon, Frank Burns, Montana Jack, "Bottle Nose Ben," and "Zinc Tooth Bill," form a quintette of bronco busters that can ride. The street parade of the Young Buffalo Wild West show is an elaborate and novel street demonstration. The parade will take place at 10:00 o'clock on the morning of the exhibition. Col. Stewart and his 20 ox-team is one of the features of this display.

Mr. Chadwick of Ann Arbor is making a new map of this county. This map when published will be invaluable to merchants, bankers, real estate dealers, lawyers and farmers; in fact we do not see how any progressive citizen can do without it. It contains the location of each piece of land, the acreage, sections, and section lines, highways, school houses, everything of public interest. The map has a feature which commends it very much. The address of each farmer, tenant and business place. As this map is much needed, it will meet with approval among our people. Mr. Chas. E. Misner is here in the interest of its circulation.
